

Bradley L. Gerstman, Esq.

Brad Gerstman is a preeminent government relations and lobbying professional. His in-depth, practical knowledge of the inner workings of government and politics consistently produces favorable results for leading corporations, institutions, and individuals. Brad combines his success as a businessman and entrepreneur with his legal expertise to give him a unique perspective that is invaluable to his clients.

Brad's exceptional track record for building relationships and coalitions has earned him the respect of policy makers. He has access to key decision-makers in federal, state and local legislatures and the skills and savvy to guide his clients through the complex legislative, political, and bureaucratic processes, and then effectively serve as their spokesperson. Brad offers forward-thinking strategies that tap into political trends and opportunities, and enable him to identify and overcome obstacles. Brad's work has resulted in shaping public policy on a number of key matters, including business advocacy and strategy; land use, special education, and charitable causes.

Mr. Gerstman brings a unique blend of legal and business experience to his clients' varied needs, as well as extensive experience in the education community. Licensed in the State of New York and a member of the New York State Bar since 1994, Mr. Gerstman started his career as an Assistant District Attorney in the Bronx, where he investigated corporate fraud and corruption cases and prosecuted violent crimes.

A member of the Education Law Association and the Nassau County Bar Association's Education Law Committee, Mr. Gerstman is a strong advocate for children with special needs. He is co-founder and board member of the Lisa Beth Gerstman Foundation, a family foundation that provides summer camp experiences to children with physical disabilities. Mr. Gerstman is also the Long Island Advocacy Chair for Autism Speaks, the nation's largest autism advocacy organization.

Active in his profession and community, Mr. Gerstman is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the Nassau Health Care Corporation and is chairman of the facilities where he is spearheading a $400 million makeover of the hospital, clinics, and senior living facility. He is also Vice Chair and Board Member of the Long Island Medical Foundation.

Additionally, Mr. Gerstman holds memberships on various political committees and served as advocacy chair on the 2007 Long Island Walk Now for Autism Planning Committee. He is currently a Board member of the Holocaust and Tolerance Center of Nassau County.

At his alma mater Hofstra University, Brad Gerstman played 4 years of varsity football. Brad currently enjoys competitive boxing.
